A brief guide to Section 136 for Emergency Departments
Summary of recommendations

1. When a patient is brought to the ED under section 136 of the Mental Health Act; the nurse in charge and a senior clinician should review the patient with the police and ambulance crew to assess their medical needs and review their risks to self and others.

2. The 24 hour duration of the section 136 commences on arrival at the Emergency Department, even if the patient is transferred subsequently to a 136 suite. The time of arrival should be noted and recorded.

3. Patients should be informed of their rights in the Emergency Department and kept updated of the plan for their care and assessment.

4. Referral for Mental Health Act assessment should occur on arrival in the ED or as soon as a patient is medically fit for assessment. Where possible medical treatment should occur alongside psychiatric assessment.

5. Police are responsible for the safety of a patient on a section 136. If an Emergency Department allows the police to leave, they take on this responsibility and should be confident they have staff and resources to deal with the risk of the patient absconding.

Scope
This guide outlines the process to be followed when police bring a person to the Emergency Department under a section 136 of the Mental Health Act and the responsibilities of the different agencies caring for the person.

Reason for development
This brief guide has been produced to help with the changes to the Mental Health Act regarding section 136 that commence in December 2017.

Changes to the MHA Dec 2017

1. Police must consult mental health professionals, if practicable, before using s136.
2. Section 136 cannot be used if the mentally disordered person is in a private dwelling or the private garden or buildings associated with that place. Other than this exception, s136 can be used in any other setting (including an Emergency Department).
3. The constable may use force under the powers of s136 to enter any place where the power may be exercised.
4. Police stations can NEVER be used as a place of safety for under 18’s.
5. Police stations can only be used as a place of safety in specific “exceptional” circumstances for adults. A police station can only be used for an adult if the detaining officer is satisfied that:
   (a) the behaviour of the adult presents an imminent risk of serious injury or death to that adult or to others;
   (b) as a result, no other place of safety in the police area in which the adult is located can reasonably be expected to detain them; and
   (c) the use of a police station is authorised by an officer not below the rank of inspector.
   In addition, once at the police station:
   (d) the adult will, so far as is reasonably practicable, have access to a healthcare professional throughout the period in which they are detained at the police station.
   (e) will receive a healthcare check from a healthcare professional every half hour.
   NB: it should be noted, not all police stations have the capacity to ensure a half-hour healthcare check by a healthcare professional.
6. There is a reduction in period of detention from 72hrs to 24hrs with the possibility of a 12hr extension under clearly defined circumstances.
7. A police constable may search a detained person if they have reasonable grounds to suspect a risk of self-harm or risk of harm to others.
General Principles

Those attending ED on s136 should be treated with respect and kindness as for any other patient. They should not be made to feel unwelcome and any discussion of the appropriateness of their attendance should occur between professionals in an appropriate manner. They must be kept up to date with progress and be provided with information, verbally and in written form, about the s136. See appendix 1 for example leaflet for patients.

Transfers should take place only when it is in the person’s best interests. This may be the case when a s136 suite would provide a calmer environment than the Emergency Department. However if this will delay assessment it may not be appropriate.

Whenever possible parallel assessment of physical and mental health needs should be considered to reduce time spent under s136 and speed up definitive care for the person concerned. Ongoing discussion with those responsible for arranging assessment is needed.

There will always be a group of people detained on s136 who need to attend ED for physical health needs therefore thought must be given to providing appropriate staff training (including security) and assessment areas.

Police responsibility to stay in ED

ED can only take over the legal responsibility for a s136 detention if they have the staff and space to ensure the wellbeing of the patient and ensure they do not abscond.

Case law, the ‘Webley’ case (2015)\textsuperscript{iv}, highlighted that ED could be liable in negligence law IF they agree to take on legal responsibilities and the person then absconds.

If ED decline to take over responsibility and the police choose to leave they could be liable for abandoning someone in their custody and exposing them to the risk of harm if this amounted to negligence.

There will be cases when the detained person is not in a position to abscond, such as if they are in a coma, when it may be appropriate for the ED to take responsibility for that person.

Ensuring ongoing communication and good shared risk assessment is key; differences of view can often be resolved this way.
Section 136 flowchart - pre-hospital

Police attend person who appears to be in a mental health crisis

If practical police contact mental health professional for information to guide decision making s136 applied. Appropriate staff made aware as per local agreements.

Decision made not to use s136. Alternative plan made and recorded in health and police records.

Police Role
- Place person on s136 and inform them
- Call Ambulance and manage any immediate medical problems
- Together with Ambulance crew decide on most appropriate destination
- To search a person at risk of self-harm or harm to others
- Ring ahead to destination

Emergency Department
s136 requiring urgent medical treatment with red flag features.
(See Appendix 2 for red flags.)

136 suite
If no red flag features, Transfer to ED if red flag features develop

If 136 suite unavailable or no alternative place of safety available then by local arrangement ED may be the most appropriate destination.

If 136 suite available, police to formally hand over and liaise with staff re need to stay.

FME to review and arrange either:
1. Transfer to place of safety OR
2. MHA assessment at police station.

Police cells
If no red flag features but grounds exist under MHA Regulations and where authorised by an inspector.
Transfer to ED if red flags develop.

------ NOTE once ED or 136 suite reached, the clock starts, MHA assessment must be complete by 24 hours ------
Nurse in charge and senior medic to review patient on arrival with police and ambulance crew and assess medical needs and RAVE risks of Resistance, Aggression, Violence and Escape. (See Appendix 3)

Information shared and appropriate s136 paperwork completed.

Clock starts with 24 hours available for MHA assessment. Note time of arrival.

Requires medical care in hospital

Person placed in appropriate area and treatment commenced

Informed of rights; leaflet given to patient

MHA organiser informed of patient and likely time fit for assessment. Ongoing discussion as treatment continues

Hospital unable to take responsibility for detention therefore Police stay

Medical care completed quickly.

If s136 suite available and appropriate; transfer for assessment with police and ambulance.

If no suite available consider assessment in ED or alternative PoS as local agreement.

Hospital has staff and space to safely take responsibility for detention and agrees to do so. Police may leave

Medical care likely to be prolonged

If fit for assessment; MHA assessment in parallel with medical treatment in ED

If fitness for assessment likely to be delayed, contact MHA organiser to arrange s12 approved clinician to consider extension to time.

No medical needs

S136 suite available

Person transferred by police and Ambulance service

If no s136 suite available ED may be the most appropriate place for assessment depending on local agreement

Consider assessment in ED as per local arrangement when no alternative PoS.

Liaise with MHA organiser to facilitate assessment.

Disclaimers
RCEM recognises that patients, their situations, Emergency Departments and staff all vary. This guideline cannot cover all possible scenarios. The ultimate responsibility for the interpretation and application of this guideline, the use of current information and a patient’s overall care and wellbeing resides with the treating clinician.

None

Audit standards
Time of arrival of a patient under section 136 to the ED should be documented
A patient should be reviewed by the nurse in charge and a senior clinician soon after arrival with the police and ambulance crew to assess their medical needs and review their risks to self and others.

Methodology
Where possible, appropriate evidence has been sought and appraised using standard appraisal methods. High quality evidence is not always available to inform recommendations. Best Practice Guidelines rely heavily on the consensus of senior emergency physicians and invited experts.

Why am I in hospital?
You have been brought to this hospital by a police officer because they are concerned that you may have a mental disorder and should be seen by a mental health professional.

You are being kept here under section 136 of the Mental Health Act 1983 so that you can be assessed to see if you need treatment.

How long will I be here?
You can be kept here (or in another place where you will be safe) for up to 24 hours so that you can be seen by a doctor and an approved mental health professional. This can be extended to 36 hours if it is felt that it is not possible to assess you properly because of physical health concerns.

An approved mental health professional is someone who has been specially trained to help decide whether people need to be kept in hospital.

If the doctor and the approved mental health professional agree that you need to remain in hospital, a second doctor may be asked to see you to confirm their decision.

During this time, you must not leave unless you are told that you may. If you try to go, the staff can stop you, and if you leave you can be brought back.

If the doctors and the approved mental health professional have not seen you by the end of the 24 hours, you will be free to leave. You may decide to stay on as a voluntary patient. But if you do want to leave, please talk to a member of staff first.

In your case the 24 hours end at:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

What happens next?
When the doctors and an approved mental health professional have seen you, they may say that you need to stay in hospital for longer. They will tell you why and for how long this is likely to be. You will be given another leaflet that explains what will happen.

If they decide that you do not have to stay, someone will talk to you about what other help you should have.
Can I appeal?
No. Even if you do not agree that you need to be in hospital, you cannot appeal against the decision to keep you here under section 136.

Will I be given treatment?
The hospital staff will tell you about any treatment they think you need. You have the right to refuse any treatment you do not want. Only in special circumstances, which would be explained to you, can you be given treatment you do not agree to.

Letting your nearest relative know
A copy of this leaflet will be given to the person the Mental Health Act says is your nearest relative.

There is a list of people in the Mental Health Act who are treated as your relatives. Normally, the person who comes highest in that list is your nearest relative. The hospital staff can give you a leaflet which explains this and what rights your nearest relative has regarding your care and treatment.

In your case, we have been told that your nearest relative is:

If you do not want this person to receive a copy of the leaflet, please tell your nurse or another member of staff.

Changing your nearest relative
If you do not think this person is suitable to be your nearest relative, you can apply to the County Court for someone else to be treated as your nearest relative instead. The hospital staff can give you a leaflet that explains this.

Code of Practice
There is a Code of Practice that gives advice to the staff in the hospital about the Mental Health Act and treating people for mental disorder. The staff must consider what the Code says when they take decisions about your care. You can ask to see a copy of the Code, if you want.

How do I complain?
If you want to complain about anything to do with your care and treatment in hospital, please speak to a member of staff. They may be able to sort the matter out. They can also give you information about the hospital’s complaints procedure, which you can use to try to sort out your complaint locally. They can also tell you about any other people who can help you make a complaint, for example an independent mental health advocate (see above).

If you do not feel that the hospital complaints procedure can help you, you can complain to an independent Commission. This is called the Care Quality Commission and it monitors how the Mental Health Act is used, to make sure it is used correctly and that patients are cared for properly while they are in hospital. The hospital staff can give you a leaflet explaining how to contact the Commission.

Further help and information

If there is anything you do not understand about your care and treatment, a member of staff will try to help you. Please ask a member of staff to explain if there is anything in this leaflet you do not understand or if you have other questions that this leaflet has not answered.

Please ask if you would like another copy of this leaflet for someone else.

Senior Clinical Staff where available. ONLY AT THE REQUEST OF PARAMEDICS / TECHNICIANS – ACCESSED VIA EOC

Where immediate management of RED FLAG conditions necessitates the intervention or skills of a Senior Clinician or where without medical oversight the journey would involve too much risk, either to the patient, the paramedics or the police officers.

This should include situations where rapid tranquilisation is considered necessary, in accordance with NICE GUIDELINES 2005.

Conveyance to the nearest ED:
- Should NOT be undertaken in a police vehicle UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES where a RED FLAG trigger is involved.

This includes remaining in ED until the person is medically fit for discharge to PoS, to Police Station or from s136 detention. It is the responsibility of the Police to outline to ED the LEGAL ASPECTS of detention; it is the responsibility of the Ambulance Service to outline the MEDICAL ASPECTS.
Appendix 3: RAVE Risk Assessment Matrix used by police.

- Where there is dispute within this framework, NHS professionals will have the right to insist upon police support where they believe they require it – police supervisors will have the right to insist on what that support should be. Each agency will accommodate the other, through this compromise.

- Where the police feel that the NHS have insisted upon support inappropriately or where the NHS feel the police have provided too much or too little support, this should be referred to the MHA Liaison Group for resolution and feedback should be provided by managers to ALL professionals involved.
