

Smoking is not the only danger to your baby's health

If you have a faulty boiler, cooker or fire, the fumes can poison your unborn child.

CO poisoning can cause brain damage, coma and death.

5 million homes in the UK may be at risk* and even babies in their mother's womb can be affected.

CO-Awareness supports victims, their families and friends poisoned by Carbon Monoxide (CO) while trying to raise awareness among health professionals and the general public, of the dangers of CO.
